

How to prepare for an Inquest

Professor Carol Seymour

Carol Seymour is a senior medico-legal adviser with Medical Protection and a barrister; previously an academic physician, and since 2003, an Emeritus Professor of Molecular and Metabolic Medicine. In the past, she has been Academic Registrar of the Royal College of Physicians; elected Councillor of the College; Fellow, and past Director of Medical Sciences, at Trinity College, Cambridge; University of Cambridge representative on GMC; Foundation Director for Clinical Advice to the Parliamentary and Health Service Ombudsman. She was instrumental in promoting the development of a new Faculty of Forensic & Legal Medicine within the Royal College of Physicians, setting the standards and training programmes for accreditation in this new specialty area; currently the Vice President (MLAs) and examiner for MFFLM in the Faculty.