Child sexual abuse and trauma

Thursday 19 November 2020

Learning Objectives

- To understand and recognize the impact of childhood trauma
- To appreciate how a child who has experienced childhood trauma may present
- To think together about how to determine what the best 'next steps' might be for a child who has experienced trauma

Presenter

Dr Carmen Chan

- I have worked in the NHS since 2004, specializing in complex reactions to trauma and PTSD across the lifespan
- Qualified as a Clinical Psychologist at the University of Oxford and, since then, I've worked the Oxford Institute of Clinical Psychology Training and Research as Research Tutor
- Trainer in delivering trauma-informed care and trauma-focused interventions
- Founding member of the Oxfordshire Sexual Violence and Exploitation Network
- Clinical Lead for Horizon, a specialist CAMHS team in Oxfordshire that works alongside professionals to support children and families who have experienced sexual harm
