

GHBRs and Chemsex – Wednesday 02 June 2021

David Stuart

David Stuart was the first to name and identify Chemsex as an emerging gay cultural phenomenon. He developed the world's first chemsex support services, and he fought relentlessly for greater chemsex awareness by encouraging and stimulating cultural dialogue and discussion within our international gay, bi and Queer communities. He continues to support international governments and communities to manage the cultural phenomenon from a place of kindness, sex positivity and cultural competence.
